

Italy Terrified by Second Earthquake

Toll of Dead and Injured Increased to over 50,000—
More Than 20 Cities and Towns Wrecked.

ROME, ITALY, Jan. 14.—An other earthquake of some strength was felt at 3 o'clock this morning here. It created a panic among the already terrified people and thousands rushed into the streets in their night clothes. So far as is known no added damage resulted.

Death Toll Grows.

ROME, Jan. 14.—The death toll of Wednesday's earthquake, which left a trail of unprecedented destruction throughout the provinces of Abruzzi and Potenza, continues to grow. The government officially announced that Avezzano has been completely destroyed and the town of Sora very badly damaged.

It is believed that the death list will reach 20,000 when all reports are in.

The list of dead, dying and injured has increased from a relatively small figure to more than 50,000, according to an official announcement, and it is expected that this number may grow before the day is over. The full extent of the property loss has not yet been determined. Here in Rome priceless statues, century-old buildings and structures that for years have been the mecca of all visitors, have been destroyed or injured.

Twenty Towns Wrecked.

More than twenty towns and villages were wrecked or destroyed by the earthquake. At least 100,000 people are homeless.

Efforts to restore communication with the province of Potenza are being made, and it is feared that when the story of the visitation there is known it will show an enormous casualty list. The center of the earthquake was in this province, and unofficial reports received by messengers sent to the nearest open telegraph line say that the capital, Potenza, also suffered greatly.

Flock of Quail Threshes Wheat

Ebensburg, Pa., Jan. 13.—John Newton, a farmer living at Munday's, near Ebensburg, tells a remarkable story of the sagacity of a flock of quail.

Following the instructions of Doctor Kalbfus, Newton has been placing grain in his barnyard for the benefit of the birds. Apparently the amount was not sufficient to satisfy the needs of a flock of quail, which fed at the farm daily. Inside the barn was a quantity of unthreshed wheat, the heads of which are closed tightly. Other birds pecked at these heads unsuccessfully, but the quail solved the difficulty.

According to Newton, a wise old quail flew out of the barn on Sunday with a stalk of wheat in its beak. Leading into the barn is a wooden bridge. The quail stuck the lower part of the bridge. Three quail seized it on the stalk between two boards on this other side and tugged away lustily. The stalk was stripped clean. Newton says the quail took turns carrying out wheat and threshing it until all were satisfied; and since they have repeated the performance daily.

Expect Attack from Palestine

Cairo, Egypt, Jan. 13.—The British military authorities consider that a Turkish attack from Palestine cannot be deferred much longer. The forces that the German officers are bringing against Egypt are large, and if they get within striking distance of the British lines they will make a determined effort to break through. The Germans are not deterred by the misfortune of the Turks in Trans-Caucasia. Their object is not to win victories for the Turks, but to distract the attention of Great Britain from West Flanders. It is only with this object that they embarked in the direction of Egypt on what, from a military standpoint, is foredoomed to failure. They must strike and probably within the next few weeks will drive forward the Syrian (Turkish) army.

When the war is over and your husband or your son is asked: 'What did you do in the great war?' is he going to hang his head because you would not let him go? Women of England, do your duty. Send your men today to join our glorious army. God save the King."

John Stanton pleaded guilty to the charge of assaulting his father, Phillip Stanton, aged 72, when arraigned Thursday evening before Mayor Staats and was fined $10 and costs. Of this amount $9 was suspended by the mayor and after paying the remainder Stanton was released.

The gray haired father presented a pitiful appearance. Both eyes were badly discolored and over his left eye there was a deep cut. His shirt was smeared with blood and he displayed several bruises about the face.

The elder Mr. Stanton said last night that his boys did not want him at home and that he would try to get admittance to the infirmary.

Sues to Foreclose on Lien

Suit to foreclose on a mechanic's lien for $146.70 was commenced in common pleas court Thursday by John Myers against Jennie Denzer, Fred D. Jacobs, Charles G. Williams, trustee in bankruptcy for Jacobs, and others.

The plaintiff's petition alleges that on July 17, 1914, he began to furnish work under a contract between himself as sub-contractor and Jacobs as principal contractor, for the building of a house on South Ninth street for Jennie Denzer. The plaintiff alleges that on August 6 he completed his work and the amount was then due. He took a mechanic's lien which was duly recorded and now claims that the amount and interest have not been paid although the payments are past due.

The plaintiff asks that the property be sold and that the proceeds applied to the payment of his debt.

The meeting was one of the best attended and most enthusiastic since the society was organized.

The inspection of the teeth of school children was discussed and it was definitely decided to enlist all of the dentists of Zanesville in making a thorough inspection of the children attending the public schools there. Cambridge representatives stated that it was probable the plan would be tried there and an effort will be made to carry out practice here.

HIGH SCHOOL NIGHT PROVES STIRRING ONE

Enthusiastic Crowd of Pupils Help Swell Throng at Tabernacle.

"High School" night at the tabernacle proved quite the most enthusiastic of the entire series of meetings up-to-date. Three hundred of Coshocton's young high school pupils turned out marching in a body from the Central high school building to the tabernacle. Class rivalry was much in evidence and sections in the center tier of seats which had been reserved for the young people were decorated in various class colors. Ten minutes of the time at the beginning of the service was given over to the special guests and it was used vociferously. The tabernacle walls resounded with class yells, songs and the applause of the audience. Both Dr. Hamilton and Choreser Welch gave the students enthusiastic welcome.

"I want you to come back," said Dr. Hamilton, "I want you to come back for my sake, I want to keep young. I want to keep in touch with your school life. I want the influence of your vigor, your earnestness, your enthusiasm. We invite you back to every service."

Thursday night was also known as "Dime" night and while the collection was not counted last night it is believed that there was a generous offering and few pieces less than a dime. Rev. F. A. Twining, pastor of the First Baptist church presented the matter of finances, and suggested that tonight be designated as "self-denial" night.

Collections Are Slow.

While the collections of the past week have not come up to what they should considering the large crowds that have been in attendance it is believed when the people understand the necessity of raising as soon as possible the $2,200 necessary for the expense budget, they will come forward with more liberal offerings. As soon as the required amount is raised there will be no more collections taken. Up to Thursday night there had been $464.26 contributed leaving $1,734.74 yet to be raised.

The entire attendance Thursday night was 2,500.

Meet For Young People.

One of the interesting features of Thursday was the final meetings for the young people held at the tabernacle at 3:45. It was one of the most inspiring meetings of the campaign. These meetings have been held for more than a week in the afternoon at the close of school and have been in charge of Mr. Taylor. Thursday afternoon, however, Dr. Hamilton took charge and made a short address. The boys and girls had formed teams and each team came to the tabernacle in a body.

Prizes were given by Dr. Hamilton to those who brought the five largest teams, either boys or girls.

At the same time, Mrs. Hamilton, who has been meeting the young people of Roscoe had her closing service with thirty-two confessions, making a total of 249 confessions among the young people of Coshocton and Roscoe.

The total number of decisions to date is 280.

Today's Schedule.

Today's schedule is as follows:

Mrs. Russell Young Is Victim of Appendicitis

Funeral services for Mrs. Russell Young, who died at the City hospital Thursday morning, will be held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Cochran, 232 North Fifth street. Rev. F. H. Twining, pastor of the First Baptist church will be in charge of the services. Interment will be made in Oak Ridge cemetery.

Mrs. Young's death followed a brief illness from appendicitis. She was stricken last Friday and removed the following day to the City hospital but her condition was found to be so serious that an operation could not be performed. Death came to relieve her suffering at 1:30 o'clock Thursday morning.

Mrs. Young was but 18 years old. She was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Cochran and was married to Mr. Young, who is employed at the Broome and Herbig printing shop, about a year ago. The after effects of pneumonia, useful life was a leader in church activities. Following her marriage she and her husband removed to Iowa where they resided a short time and later removed to Kansas. While in Kansas 47 years ago her husband died and she returned to Tiverton to live with her only daughter, Mrs. Stillinger. About five years ago they removed to this city and have made their residence here since.

Mrs. Buchanan was well known throughout the county and the news of her death will be the occasion of much sadness to her many friends. In addition to her only daughter, Mrs. Stillinger, she leaves three grand children and 2 great grand children. Definite funeral arrangements have not yet been made but it is thought that services will be held from the Tiverton Church of Christ Saturday morning at 11 o'clock and interment will take place in the burial ground nearby.

Thin People

Can Increase Weight

Thin men and women who would like to increase their weight with 10 or 15 pounds of healthy "stay there" fat should try eating a little Sargol with their meals for a while and note results. Here is a good test worth trying. First weigh yourself and measure yourself. Then take Sargol—one tablet with every meal—for two weeks. Then weigh and measure again. It isn't a question of how you look or feel or what your friends say and think. The scales and the tape measure will tell their own story, and most any thin man or woman can easily add from five to eight pounds in the first fourteen days by following this simple direction. And best of all, the new flesh stays put.

Sargol does not to itself make fat, but mixing with your food, it turns the fats sugars and starches of what you have eaten, into rich, ripe fat producing nourishment for the tissues and blood—prepares it in an easily assimilated form which the blood can readily accept. All this nourishment now passes from your body as waste. But Sargol stops the waste and does it quickly and makes the fat producing contents of the very same meals you are eating now develop pounds and pounds of healthy flesh between your skin and bones. Sargol is safe, pleasant, efficient and inexpensive. Winner-Arnold Drug store and other leading druggists in Coshocton and vicinity sell it in large boxes—forty tablets to a package—on a guarantee of weight increase or money back.

For Dandruff, Falling Hair or Itchy Scalp--25 Cent Danderine

If you care for heavy hair, that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life: has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine.

Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff; you can not have nice, heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scalp robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces more falling hair—you must use scalp; the hair roots flourish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast. If your hair has been neglected and is thin, faded, dry, scraggy or too oily, get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine at any drug store or toilet counter; apply a little as directed and ten minutes after you will say this was the best investment you ever made.

We sincerely believe, regardless of everything else advertised, that if you desire soft, lustrous, healthy hair and lots of it—no dandruff—no itching scalp and no more falling hair—you must use Knowlton's Danderine. If eventually—why not now?

A big meeting for men only is planned for Sunday afternoon at 2:30 at the tabernacle. "Some Things Men Ought to Know," is the subject selected by Dr. Hamilton for this service. Welch and his big male chorus will be one of the features of the meeting. Boys under 14 will not be admitted.

"Sin Will Out."

The evangelist mined no words in the delivery of his sermon on "Caught by a Sore Detective," Thursday night. He said, in speaking of the double life of David, whose sin had found him out, that he had no doubt that the sin of some one who had been in the tabernacle services would be found out and their double life be made known to the world. "Before this old tabernacle is torn down some body's crime will be made known and some one who has been fooling his friends, deceiving his wife, will cry out, 'Found out at last,' said the evangelist as he hurled his verbal thunderbolts at his audience.

"Many a wife does not know that she is living with a thief, a criminal; she does not know of his double life, but he cannot deceive God. His sin will find him out. If not in this life, then in the great judgment of God."

The evangelist took for his text and said:

"And Nathan said to David: 'Thou art the man and David said unto Nathan, 'I have sinned against the Lord.'"

When God writes the history of a man, he does not omit anything. He does not show the nobility of a man and pass over his weakness. As the camera turned on a landscape includes the hills, valleys, houses, rocks and trees, so God takes in the whole scope of a man's life.

David had been portrayed to us as a clean, God-fearing man. He had a fair name, he was honored and esteemed, but there is now recorded against him two loathsome sins, adultery and murder. I suppose if you had been writing the history of David you would have omitted his sins. You would have shown him perhaps in a little stronger light in his battle with Goliath. You would have emphasized his greatness towards Saul who was bent on his

As they approached the object of their search, they seemed to say: "Here he is, I have found him." When I looked upon those bloodhounds on the trail, I thought of the thousands who are pursued by their own guilt here until they are found out. They track well hidden, that they had covered their sins deep, but the hounds of God's law pursue them until with horror, they cry, "I am found out at last." If you art not found out here, your guilt will hound you forever in the darkness of hell; your sin will find you out. "Some men's sin are open beforehand, going on to judgement, and some men they follow after." There is no place into which you can cast your guilt, no recess so dark and secure that you can hide them, but your sin will find you out.

There is a poem by Hood, entitled, "The Dream of Eugene Aram," who murdered a man and cast his body into a deep, sluggish river, black as ink, but when the morning broke, he visited the scene of his guilt and there, to his surprise, he found the dead in the river bed, for the faithless stream was dry. He proceeded to cover destination. You would have dwelt more on his character as a warrior, general or statesman.

Certainly you could not have said too much about his ability as a poet. We are told when Alexander, king of Macedon, had his portrait taken, he sat with his face resting on his fingers, as though he were in deep thought, but the object was to hide a terrible scar. When God wrote the history of David, he took away all fingers that would hide the scar and make him appear as he was.

We must bear in mind that the man who is capable of doing great good is also capable of going very far astray; and the man who is far astray when restored to God, is capable of becoming a mighty power to him.

"Whatever a man soweth, that shall he also reap." When David committed adultery, he found he had to commit murder to hid his guilt. It was easier for him to commit murder after he had committed adultery. One sin leads to another. When David committed adultery, he lived to see his own daughter humbled. When he committed the murder of Uriah, he lived to see murderers arise in his own household.

There are two prominent lessons which stand out in this sad story of David's life. The first is, there is forgiveness for the vilest sinner, if he will turn to God and seek forgiveness. The second lesson is: "Be sure your sins will find you out." There is no declaration in the Word of God that is truer than that.

I may have spoken to some since these meetings began who ought to be sent to prison. If I could expose here tonight the life, the double dealing, the hypocrisy, the secret sins of some who have been in attendance at these meetings they would swoon away and would want to lose themselves in the wilds of Africa and would never want us to see their faces again. A friend of mine invited me to see his kennel of bloodhounds. He was training them to trail the foot of the criminal. I was at once interested in those keen-scented animals as they started on the trail and as they traced the zig-zag course made by one some time before. I became excited at their eagerness and earnestness. They seemed to be well rewarded for their efforts when they found their fugitive in a tree or building.

As they approached the object of their search, they seemed to say: "Here he is, I have found him." When I looked upon those bloodhounds on the trail, I thought of the thousands who are pursued by their own guilt here until they are found out. They track well hidden, that they had covered their sins deep, but the hounds of God's law pursue them until with horror, they cry, "I am found out at last." If you art not found out here, your guilt will hound you forever in the darkness of hell; your sin will find you out. "Some men's sin are open beforehand, going on to judgement, and some men they follow after." A Pimply Face Loses Friends

Why Stand This Humiliation When Stuart's Calcium Wafers in a Week Make Your Face Clean and Radiant.

No need for anyone to go about any longer with a face covered with pimples, blotches, eruptions, blackheads and liver spots. These are all due to impurities in the blood. Cleanse the blood thoroughly and the blemishes will disappear.

"Everyone Looks at a Face Bearing a Lovely Complexion—It is Nature's Greatest Gift to Woman."

That's what Stuart's Calcium Wafers are intended to accomplish and do accomplish. Their principal ingredient is Calcium Sulphide, the quickest and most thorough blood cleanser known.

These wonderful little wafers get right into the blood, and destroy eruptive substances present in it. In some cases at few days is sufficient to make a marked improvement. And when the blood is pure the whole system is a hundred per cent better.

Don't fret any longer about those blackheads, pimples, boils, tetters, eczema, spots or skin eruptions; they all go and "go quick" if you use Stuart's Calcium Wafers.

The body with leaves, but a heavy wind swept by and the body was laid bare. He fell on his face and began to weep, for he knew that his secret was one that the earth refused to keep. Again, he gathered up the body and put it in a cave and covered it with stones. Years pass on and he is discovered and put to death.

Two brothers were at work in a field. One was jealous of the other because he had favor with God. While not an eye beheld him, yet in his rage he slew his brother. Perhaps he buried his body in the sand, but he could not bury his guilt. "Am I my brother's keeper?" The Lord answered, "Your brother's blood crieth unto Me from the ground." God has your every sin photographed. Go into the darkness and sin, and His eye is upon you. He has caught your sin by the flash of His all-seeing eye. Be sure your sin will find you out.

I heard John Vredenberg, who told of his conducting a revival in Cartersville, Ga. During one of the services he heard the report of a gun near the church. A woman was killed. The discharge which had taken her life was seen to be that of a shotgun. Suspicion fell on a neighbor. A double-barreled shot gun was found in his house with one barrel empty. They took the paper used as a wad for the discharge load and the paper in the undischarged barrel and put the two together and it formed the text a minister had used on the Sunday before, and it was reported in the paper. "Be sure your sins will find you out."

I wish I had the power to drive home to every heart tonight, the truth of these words. The Lord commanded Saul to destroy his enemies, their flocks and herds. Saul sallied out and made slaughter of some of the enemies, but contrary to the Lord's command, he kept the best of the flocks and herds. Saul said to Samuel: "I have done as the Lord commanded me, I have destroyed them all." But Samuel asked: "Saul, what does the bleating of the sheep and the lowing of those cattle mean?" Saul responded, "Oh, prophet of God, I did not want

No More Old Man's Darling for Mrs. Alsopp

New York, Jan. 14.—Any girl who wishes can be an old man's darling. But not any more for me. If ever I am free to wed again it will be to a young man, who will appreciate a helpmate and not merely a flower to wear. "Most men I know over 60 want to put a woman in a glass case and keep her only for his selfish companionship. A girl must have company—young company—and that was my trouble—I did not have it."

So spoke Mrs. Effie Pope (Miss Alsopp, wife of the Washington

Life Sentence in Prison for Theft of Couple Hams

Chicago, Jan. 13.—Judge Pettit, in the Criminal Court, today sentenced William Cline to a life term in the penitentiary for stealing two hams. Cline said he stole hams because he was hungry. Judge Pettit handed down the life sentence when he found that Cline had served two terms in the House of Correction and had twice been in the penitentiary.

millionaire, Edward R. Alsopp, who she is suing in supreme court for separation, because of his alleged cruelty in making a "hot-house flower" of her. The beautiful Georgian girl is not quite 22. Her husband is in his seventy-sixth year.

She talked today in the office of her lawyer, just before her departure for San Francisco. Upon her arrival in California Mrs. Alsopp is to live on a ranch, she says.

"Then you do not believe that young girls should mate with aged men?" she was asked.

"I offer myself as exhibit A," she replied. "Mr. Alsopp has persecuted me since I was 15. We were wed when I was 18. I have had no fun in life and I am broke. I think that is the answer to whether a young girl should wed a man so much older than herself."

"If she is satisfied to be worn as a rose and then cast aside like a glove that has seen its day, and for which there is no further use, all right. But the average girl wants to dance and sing and be happy. It is her right."

"Mr. Alsopp did not even wish me to laugh with my feet—tango, I mean—or to go anywhere with persons as young as myself. He was insanely jealous and wished me to associate only with himself or friends of his own age."

"There are cruelties that hurt worse than blows. And I believe that being tied to a person who only appreciates your prettiness and not your real self is one of them. What could be more cruel than a starved heart? What is worse than a lonely life when your very soul cries out for gaiety?"

"My husband was affection itself. But money and affection are not everything."

What's His Name at Mystic Today

The Mystic theatre will show another big Paramount feature today entitled "What's His Name" one of Laskey's best and from the interesting book written by McCutcheon. It is a story of village life in which the tantalizing Metropolis plays a big part. Harvey its hero, works at a soda fountain and has married Nellie. Nellie is pretty and inexplicable fate put in her way an offer to become one of the chorus. The manager won't take Harvey; but we see him carrying the satchels to the train. He is soon to become "What's His Name" Miss Duluth's husband. The story is full of many interesting scene and excitement, it features fully up to the standard set by the other famous Paramount pictures.

An Honest Dependable Medicine

It must be admitted by every fair-minded, intelligent person, that a medicine could not live and grow in popularity for nearly forty years, and to-day hold a record for thousands upon thousands of actual cures, as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, without possessing great virtue and actual worth. Such medicines must be looked upon and termed both standard and dependable by every thinking person.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

Delay Answer to the Britons

Washington, Jan. 14.—The United States government has not yet formulated any opinion concerning the British reply to the American note on shipping, according to President Wilson. The president made it clear in talking with visitors today that all reports that the administration was dissatisfied with the Grey reply were entirely unfounded. He said no one has the right to speak for himself or for the administration on the subject at present. The president further made it plain that there would be no reply to the note until its full text has been received. It is only preliminary.

Lime Starvation Causes Tuberculosis

The Medical Record (New York) of December 18, 1909, contains an article on "The Treatment of Pulmonary Tuberculosis, Based on the Assumption That the Dietetic Cause of the Disease is Lime Starvation," by Dr. John F. Russell, who says: "The condition which is recognized as preceding the active development of tuberculosis in the adult may be considered as due to lime starvation, but if the adult is not in organic combination it is difficult to suppose that the cells can appropriate them for food."

Years of widespread use confirm us in the belief that the success of Beckman's Alternative in cases of pulmonary tuberculosis (consumption) and chronic throat and bronchial troubles is due in large measure to its content of lime, so combined with other ingredients as to be easily appropriated by the cells.

Doubtless this has had much to do with the results obtained in many cases of these affections, which appear to have yielded to Beckman's Alternative.

As it contains no opiates, narcotics or habit-forming drugs, it is safe to use. Your druggist will order it for you or you can send direct.

New Overlands at Loos Garage

Charles W. Loos and Sons, automobile agency received a shipment of three 1915 model Overland cars Thursday. The one a seven passenger, 50 horsepower, is attracting much favorable comment on account of its beauty. The other two are splendid five passenger, 30 horsepower, general utility cars.

The cars are now on display in the showroom on Main street.

because the swollen glands and inflamed membranes often affect other tissues and impair their healthy action.

Scott's Emulsion stands alone as Nature's greatest corrector of throat troubles; its pure cod liver oil is specially converted into germ-resisting tissue; its tested glycerine is curative and healing, while the combined emulsion not only relieves the throat troubles but also up-builds the forces to resist tubercular germs and avert the weakening influence which always follows throat troubles.

For forty years physicians have prescribed Scott's Emulsion for these important reasons: it relieves the trouble; strengthens the lungs; prevents a relapse; and is free from alcohol or stupefying drugs. Refuse alcoholic substitutes—insist on the purity of Scott's. At any drug store.

Why Church Is Critized

Discussed by Miss McGaughey

The thing that keeps many of us from being Christians is the thought of being considered queer. We don't want to be different from the people about us," said Miss Hester McGaughey, in her talk on, "Limiting God," in the third of the series of parlor meetings, held Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. H. Mills, on Walnut street.

"It takes a strong minded person in these days to be different from other folks," said Miss McGaughey. "But Oh, how much we lose by trying to be just like others. For many women there is only one fitting name and that is, in the language of the school children, 'Copy-cat.' How we dislike being called queer. But when God chose the people of Israel to be His people, He said, 'They shall be a peculiar people.'

Miss McGaughey gave as the three greatest reasons why the church is being criticized, the fact that it is not growing in numbers as it should; that it is not meeting social conditions and that Christians are no different from those outside the church.

"I have no use for the fault finder either in or out of the church," said she, "for so far the church is the one institution which has been found most instrumental in working out God's plan of salvation. But I have to admit that much of the criticism of the church has foundation. That it is not growing is true. In the last decade the increase in church membership has little more than kept pace with the increase in population and has fallen below that of ten or twenty years ago. We are forced to look to foreign fields for much increase in membership and here we find them coming in by whole communities.

"That the church is not coming out openly and definitely on social conditions, while it is true, may not be entirely the fault of the church. Men and women who have been given years of study to these conditions admit that there has not yet been worked out the best methods to deal with them. The church no doubt is dealing with these problems in the best way it knows how. Another fact that we might as well face because it is true, is the growing sense of class distinction in America, which is spreading even to our churches. We must admit that many churches have grown to be mere machines depending absolutely upon money for their support and consequently we are led, even against our will, to yield to the moneyed classes.

"The greatest criticism, however, is that Christians do not differ from those outside the churches. How true this is. How few people there are whom we can pick out from the multitude and know from their dress, actions and conversation that they are Christians. How many of us are there who copy about everything else to talk of the things of the kingdom? If a caller came to our house and talked of nothing but Jesus Christ, would we not think she was a little queer? And right there is where we limit ourselves and God, because we dislike to be considered queer.

"What would God have us do you ask?

"God is a great infinite ocean of love from which He bids us draw life more abundant. We Christians should live more abundant lives than those about us because of this great ocean of power behind us. We must lift Jesus up if we would draw others to Him. The great secret of the drawing power of Billy Sunday is because he holds up Jesus Christ. What the church needs above everything else is to hold up Jesus Christ. I have gone into services where during the course of an entire sermon the name of Jesus was not even mentioned. If we truly believe on Him and hold Him up unflinchingly to the world, many more would be following Him.

"If we follow His words, 'Take my yoke upon you and learn of me,' and the golden rule we will not need much else. About these whole systems of social reform can be built.

"Why do we fail?

"Because we limit God and His power. We need to discover the hiding place of God's power. It is sin that stops His power flowing in us. He cannot work through choked channels.

"Another reason of our weakness is that we do not earnestly believe in Jesus Christ as God. We say we do but we do not live as though we really believed it. If we allow doubt as to the deity of Jesus Christ to creep in then we also doubt for long, the fact that He is the Son, Son of God, the Father.

"When we allow God to have His way with us there will be no limit to our power, for there is no limit to God's power."

Mrs. McDonald sang at the beginning and conclusion of Miss McGaughey's talk, the last number, "In the Secret of His Presence," having been written by a friend of Miss McGaughey's, Miss Ellen Lakshini Goreh, a native of India, who was converted to the Christian religion.

The next of the parlor meetings will be held at the home of Mrs.

Gutierrez Could Repulse Attack.
Mexico City, Jan. 14.—Provisional President Gutierrez denied reports emanating from Puebla that a large force of Carranzistas is approaching the capital. He says he knows that their main forces are now at San Martin, Texmelucan, which is more than 107 miles away, but if by any possibility these forces should invade the city, he has a sufficient garrison to repulse the attack.

New High Mark For Wheat.
Chicago, Jan. 14.—Wheat jumped to $1.43 1/2 per bushel in the local pit. It was the highest price reached here in many years for May options. The market closed in great excitement, with heavy bidding at $1.42 1/2. The lowest point touched during the day was $1.40 1/2 per bushel.

Townsend Goes to Mansfield.
Columbus, Jan. 14.—Lloyd Townsend, twenty-six, former teller of the State Savings Bank and Trust company, indicted for embezzlement of $5,835 from the bank, pleaded guilty. He was sentenced to the Mansfield reformatory. Townsend squandered most of the money in gambling.

Many a fellow has such dazzling prospects that he becomes blind to his own interests.

ITALY IN MOURNING.
District Devastated by Quake Known as Italian Switzerland.

Rome, Jan. 14.—The fate of Avezzano, 63 miles east of Rome, and the surrounding Abruzzi country, which has become one of the most fertile lands of Italy, has plunged the whole country into the deepest mourning.

In this section, which suffered most severely from the earthquake of Wednesday, there seems to have been a repetition of the earthquake disaster at Messina. It is in a rocky and inaccessible country and practically all communication has been interrupted. A train which should have arrived in Rome Wednesday morning from Avezzano has disappeared and so far it has been impossible to trace it.

TURKS MASSACRE MANY CHRISTIANS

Russian Officer Tells of Fighting in Persia.

Petrograd, Jan. 14.—Soudawed Dowlat, former governor of the province of Azerbaijan, northern Persia, has arrived at Tiflis from Tabriz with a story of massacres by the Turkish forces now overrunning Persia. He declares that Turkish agents have been hard at work for months using their influence with the Persians to work up prejudice against the Russians.

He declares he posted 1,500 troops at one of the Maidnab forts and 1,200 at the other, while he, with 400 horsemen, defended the bridge, thus enabling refugees to escape to Maraga. After ten hours of fighting his guard was annihilated, he said, the Turks bringing up machine guns and using them to advantage. He and three survivors fled to Tabriz and later to Tiflis.

The former governor says the Turks and Kurds massacred the Christian population of Maidnab, also many refugees who had taken refuge there. All of the staffs of the consulate and the banks at Tabriz escaped to Tiflis.

BERLIN WAR NEWS.

Battle at Rheims Being Pushed With Vigor by Germans.

Berlin, Jan. 14.—It was stated here that the German battle at Rheims is being pushed with vigor. During Wednesday 106 shells fell inside the French lines in the town, inflicting considerable damage. Fighting is also in progress to the east of the city and in the neighborhood of Soissons, where several French attacks in force have been repulsed.

The German forces have succeeded in advancing their lines somewhat to the east of Soissons, and have also repulsed several French attacks in force in the Argonne and the Woivre regions. Elsewhere on the west the situation is quiet.

On the eastern front there is fighting in progress at several points of the long battle line, but the official reports indicate that at no point is it being decisive.

A little change in the weather is almost as welcome as a little change in the pocket.

EARTH QUAKE

The government is taking energetic steps to rescue the victims and to restore the shattered towns. The military has assumed charge and troops are being rushed into the devastated area with all possible speed. Doctors and medical supplies are already on the way.

The government is in excellent shape to meet the present crisis, as the army is on practically a war footing, while there are tons of medical supplies stored at the various headquarters. The area that suffered from the earthquake is included in the territory through the heart of Italy from the Mediterranean to the Adriatic. There is included several hundred square miles, extending from the west from Rome to Naples, and thence directly east through the peninsula to the Adriatic. The main chain of the Italian mountains that form the backbone of the Italian peninsula runs through this section and with whips down and most of the territory blacked with snow the work of securing details will be difficult.

Crushed in Their Homes.

Most of those who were killed in Avezzano were crushed in the ruins of their homes. The governmental reports say that the houses collapsed under the violence of the shock as though they were made of cards. Fire broke out in the ruins shortly after the initial shock, but it is reported here that it was quickly extinguished.

The uninjured immediately started the work of rescue and the section of the city that suffered least was requisitioned for hospital purposes. It is stated that more than 1,500 persons were injured, many seriously.

There was no way of getting word of the tragedy to the outside world except by messenger, and it required nearly all day for the courier to reach a point where he could get into communication with Rome. The king at once ordered cavalry and infantry to the rescue, and practically all of the territory affected is now under martial law.

The town of Pofi is reported half destroyed, as is Gualiano, but the death list here is said to be small. Other towns and villages which suffered include Poggio, Zankarolo, Paliano, Pereto, Veroli, Caserta, Sarno, and even as far away as Florence and Modena.

The great tower of Arpino, commemorating the birthplace of Cleopatra, collapsed, it was learned, killing and injuring many people. It has also reported that 100 persons have been killed at Sorci, 100 at Arpino, and that many are injured.

Not only has railroad traffic been interrupted, with no trains moving, but it is reported that in many instances the roads along the mountain sides have been turned into deep gulches that are almost impassable. The king, it is announced, will take personal charge of the work of relief. He is arranging to go to the scene in an automobile as soon as a route that can be made passable is located. The various bridges and tunnels along the railroad were all destroyed, and reports current here say that at least one train filled with passengers fell into a gully.

The cabinet met and adopted measures for the relief of the earthquake sufferers. Funds were appropriated for the work and the military authorities were authorized to utilize such army supplies as may be needed in feeding and caring for the stricken people.

The actual casualty list in Rome itself was small, but the reports constantly increase the property damage. There is nothing but the highest praise everywhere for Pope Benedict who, when the first shock was felt was reciting the thanksgiving after the morning mass. He immediately directed that every effort be made to aid the sufferers, and by his example locally quelled an imminent panic among his attendants and guards. His politeness immediately gave orders for a solemn high mass in the cathedral and had an investigation made of the damage sustained by St. Peter's.

"Applesced's" Admirers Incorporate.

Columbus, Jan. 14.—Johnny Appleseed will not pass into oblivion. The John Chapman Memorial association was incorporated by a number of Columbus men with the purpose of erecting a monument over the grave of Chapman who was called "Johnny Applesced," at Indianaapolis. He walked through Ohio when the state was in its swaddling clothes planting apples, according to tradition. Many country roads now are bordered with apple trees, said to be the result of "Johnny Applesced's" hobby.

Farmer Shot by Nightriders.
Paducah, Ky., Jan. 14.—Nightriders decapitated Pedro Mohundro a farmer, from his home near Lovelockville and shot him to death, according to information reaching the authorities here. Mohundro's death is the second recently charged to nightriders in western Kentucky. Previously Henry Allen was called from his home in Muhlenberg county and hanged to a tree.

Another "Dry" Victory.
Waukegan, O., Jan. 14. Delta, the first town in Fulton county to vote on the liquor question since the home rule amendment was adopted, returned a dry majority of 158.

A little change in the weather is almost as welcome as a little change in the pocket.

WILL NOT WAIT ON ARBITRATORS

Coal Operators to Start Mines in Eastern Ohio.

Wheeling, W. Va., Jan. 14.—The coal mines of eastern Ohio, idle for more than ten months because of the strike, are being prepared for resumption, which will take place in some of the mines before the end of the present week. All the old miners are offered wages equivalent to last year's scale prices and in cases where the mine refuses to work, he will be evicted from the company houses.

The Pittsburgh Vela Operators' association, in session in this city conferring with Daniel J. Keefe and Hywell Davies, the government conciliators in the strike, has decided to resume operations, no matter what the efforts of the conciliators attending the strike.

The mines that will be opened are those of the Malster Coal company, Flushing, Jefferson Coal company, Piney Fork, Wheeling and Lake Erie Coal company, Dillonville, Valley Camp Coal company, Fairmount, Purslove-Maher Coal company, Maryland, United States Coal company, Bradley, and several others.

Resumes as "Open Mine."

Stonewall, O., Jan. 14.—The Glens Run Coal company mine at Rush Run was started up as an open shop with a small force at the old scale. The force will be increased as miners can be procured. No evictions will be attempted unless miners interfere with the operations of the mine or cause trouble. Their mines at Jux Run and Comerlille will be opened up open shop as soon as possible.

GOVERNOR BLEASE RESIGNS.

His Four Years in Office Replete With Sensations.
Columbus, S. C., Jan. 11.—Governor Cole L. Blease, whose term of office expires Jan. 13, filed his resignation with the secretary of state.

The resignation transmitted to the senate was immediately accepted. Lieutenant Governor Smith took the oath of office for the unexpired term.

Governor Blease has been in office about four years, and his tenure has been replete with sensations. He has pardoned over 3,000 convicts, including murderers and other criminals charged with all sorts of crime. Only a few days ago he startled the country by releasing 1,500 convicts on jail and the penitentiary and others working on the state contracts.

He capped the climax this week by disbanding the state militia and the officers of the militia are now taking steps to prevent his action being carried into effect. They hope the incoming governor will revoke his order disbanding the militia.

Trials of Antarctic Explorer

New York, Jan. 14.—“After Dr. Metz died I debated with myself for two days whether to eat him or bury him. I finally buried him.

“When I took off my boots the soles of my feet came off with them. There was nothing to do but bandage the pieces back on and proceed in agony toward my base.

“For thirty-nine days I lived on the meat of a single dog and during eight of those days another man had been living on that same dog. For thirty-one days I was alone on the ice. I had no soles on my feet and my hair all fell out. But finally I got back to my base.”

These are the high spots of a narrative told today by Sir Douglas Mawson, who arrived on the Cunaarder Orduna and purposes to lecture before the American Geographical society on his explorations in the Antarctic.

Sir Douglas and two companions, Lieut. B. S. Ninnez, of the British navy and Dr. X. Mertz, Swiss ski champion, set out from their base in Ameliland in 1912 to make observations of the geographical and archeological features of the south polar continent.

Lieut. Ninnez fell to death through a crevasse and Dr. Mertz succumbed to a perforation of the intestines. Sir Douglas says he does not know how he himself came through alive, but he admits he gives thanks every day that he buried Dr. Mertz instead of eating him.

“He died Jan. 8, 1913,” said Dr. Douglas, “I was awfully short of food and about 100 miles away from our base and I debated for two days on the matter of eating Mertz. But I finally decided if I did get back to civilization it would leave a bad taste in my mouth forever. So I buried him in a hole in the ice and pushed on.”

The expedition discovered, according to Sir Douglas, “the place where storms are spawned.” He says Ameliland is the breeding place of the South American hurricane.

There wind blows fifty miles an hour on an average, while on the trip he registered it as high as 220 miles an hour on their wind gauge. The mean temperature is about 5 degrees above zero, but the mercury rarely sinks past 47 degrees below zero.

On the trip out the party discovered that by wireless they could notify the Australian coast at least forty-eight hours before the arrival there of a hurricane. Other important discoveries were made and the out-trip was one succession of triumphs with no untoward incident. But when the little party turned to retrace its steps misfortune came thick and fast.

After Sir Douglas reached his base on the coast he found the ship they had come on, the Aurora, had just left for the Falklands and would not return for months. A search party of six men had been left, so the sole survivor of the expedition was nursed back to health.

“The last day of my trip I had cooked myself a fine meal of dog meat,” said Dr. Mawson. “When I got back to real food I was ravenous and the best thing we had was penguin eggs. In the time we waited for the Aurora to return the seven of us ate 7,000 of these boiled, fried, poached and scrambled. And as we had plenty of butter we made lots of omelets. This was the best way of all to cook the eggs.”

the steel and exploded. The whole theory of shell fire had been so changed by the adoption of high explosive shells in place of armor-piercing projectiles, he said, that the coast defenses of the United States virtually were useless because they still used the latter type of projectiles.

Officers of the German navy, he said had informed him that armor-piercing shells had been displaced upon German war vessels years ago and that the Germans relied upon high explosives to destroy a ship on which their guns were trained.

It had been demonstrated, he said that armor-piercing shells had never sunk a ship. He cited the case of the Maria Theresa, one of the Spanish ships beached when she took fire after her fight from Santiago. Two 12-inch armor-piercing shells had struck the ship and exploded in her, he said, yet it was possible to raise her and send her to the United States. Navy officers had testified, he said, that had a high-explosive shell struck the vessel, “the whole stern would have been torn off.”

Gathman also attacked the coast defense mortars on which the United States, he said, had expended $100,000,000. These, he said have a range of only six miles, use only armor-piercing shells and cannot pierce armor at a mile, as a majority of the blows would be glancing. Equipped with high-explosive shells, he said, their fire would be deadly.
